Tropic Thunder

Purple, orange, yellow – where else would you find this striking combo of colourful botanicals but on a tropical island? Why, in your garden, with this planter, of course. So if you like the idea of lying on your lounge in the glorious British sun, feeling like you're sipping rum cocktails under a banana tree, then please buy it. Because tropical islands are expensive, Tropic Thunder was overrated, and this planter is neither. And this is why we're good at marketing.
